Heart to Heart Conference & National Lifesaver Defibrillator Awards

Education and information to help save lives

Royal College of Pathologists

2 Carlton House Terrace, London SW1Y 5AF

Saturday, 20th October, 2012

Certificates of attendance awarded on application.

Statement by Dr Jerry Nolan, of the Resuscitation Council (UK)

After cardiac arrest, the chance of survival diminishes rapidly if attempted defibrillation is delayed. Wide availability of automated external defibrillators (AEDs) reduces the time to defibrillation and increases survival.

Heart to Heart: Education and information to help save lives

Royal College of Pathologists, 2 Carlton House Terrace, London SW1Y 5AF

SADS UK

Prevention of cardiac arrest

The charity provides heart monitors and event recorders to medical establishments to detect abnormalities of the heart rhythm, to enable speedy evaluation, referral and treatment of patients.

SADS UK distributes The Warning Signs leaflets in the community and to training organizations to prompt people who may experience symptoms consistent with a cardiac condition to seek medical advice.

Emergency Care

SADS UK provides Automated External Defibrillators to schools and organisations in the community and lobbies Government to make defibrillators mandatory in schools.

SADS UK holds the annual National Defibrillator Lifesaver Awards.

Royal College of Pathologists

The Royal College of Pathologists, 2 Carlton House Terrace is tranquil, with the College's elevation set back from The Mall providing magnificent views across St James's Park. Its prestigious location and stylish interior is very impressive facing down Carlton Gardens towards Pall Mall. Access by public transport is unrivalled with the College being within walking distance of Piccadilly Circus, Charing Cross and Victoria train stations.

Key Speakers

Professor Dhavendra Kumar

Consultant Clinical Geneticist, Institute of Medical Genetics, University Hospital of Wales, Cardiff
Discusses genetic research committed to enhance understanding of familial heart conditions.

Professor Peter Taggart

Principal Research Associate, Centre for Cardiology in the Young, London
Discusses research on what is happening in the brain when stress causes heart rhythm problems and how this may affect treatments in the future.

Conference and Exhibition

- Are you a nurse, doctor, first aid trainer, first responder, member of the emergency services, who would like to know more about Inherited Cardiac Conditions and SADS (Sudden Arrhythmic Death Syndrome)?
- Are you a family living with a cardiac condition or who has been affected by SADS?
- Would you like to meet like-minded individuals, make contacts and network
- Would you like to hear more about services available to people affected.
- Would you like to hear about research on what is happening in the brain when stress causes heart rhythm problems and how this may affect treatments in the future
- Would you like to hear about genetic research being carried out to assist families.
- If the answer is 'Yes' to any of the above, register for the Heart to Heart Conference

National Defibrillator Lifesaver Awards

The speedy use of a defibrillator along with CPR can save a life. The cardiac charity SADS UK holds the Annual National Defibrillator Lifesaver Awards to honour people who have taken lifesaving action.
